A School For Detectives.

In Paris aspirants for positions in the detective force are taught in a regular school, where day after day they are put through various exercises until they become proficient and receive appointments or show that they have not the detective instinct in them.

The students first are trained in the use of their eyes and their hands. One of the lessons consists in placing the pupil in a brilliantly lighted room full of furniture and ornaments. Then he is taken to another room and required to make a sketch of the room he just has left, indicating the position of all the objects in it. He is allowed to look at a face for a minute and then required to describe the color of the hair, the eyes, the general form, etc. He afterward is required to pick out a photograph of the face from among several hundred others.

In educating the hand the student is placed in a dark room in which are many curious and unusual objects. These he feels over and then writes a description of them. He must remember even the slightest details. One test is to let him handle gems in the dark and then tell what they are, whether diamonds, rubies or what not. This, of course, an exercise for the more advanced pupils.

Plays In Installments.

In nearly all the large cities of Spain the theaters sell tickets for separate acts of a play. The plays are, as a rule, of the popular variety, plentifully interspersed with songs and dances. They are, in short, a sort of variety entertainment, with a slender thread of plot running through them. They begin early and end late, and large numbers of performers are employed. Seats are very cheap, and few people would care to sit out the whole performance.

The result is that it is possible for a small sum to buy a ticket entitling the purchaser to see one or two acts out of five or six. The consequence is that when the curtain comes down after an act a large portion of the audience leaves the house and seats are immediately taken by newcomers who have been waiting for the end of the act and have taken tickets for the next.

One Cold Saved.

Logic is logic, whether it touches the affairs of nations or a cold in the head. The conviction, says "Tribune," was forced upon a Liverpool woman whose coachman, although he had been ill for several days, appeared one morning with his hair closely cropped.

"Why, Dennis," said the mistress, "whatever possessed you to have your hair cut while you had such a bad cold?"

"Well, mum," replied the unabashed Dennis, "I do be takin' notice this long while that whiniver I have my hair cut I take a bad cold, so I thought to me self that now, while I had the cold cut to me, it would be the time of all others to go and get me hair cuttin' done, for by that course I would save myself just one cold. Do you see the power of me reasonin', mum?"

Lifted Up Forever.

Mazzini, whose name is associated with the liberation of Italy, was once asked what he would have taught in school.

"One thing, at any rate, in all," replied Mazzini, "and that is some knowledge of astronomy. A man learns nothing if he has not learned to wonder, and astronomy, better than any science, teaches him something of the mystery and grandeur of the universe.

"Now, a man who feels this will soon feel something of his own greatness and mystery, and then for the first time he is a man."

Why He Wept.

The extensive authority of parents under the Chinese laws is well known. A Chinaman of forty years, whose aged mother flogged him every day, shed tears in the company of one of his friends.

"Why do you weep?" he was asked.

"Alas, things are not as they used to be," answered the devoted son. "The poor woman's arms grow feeble every day!"—Sporting Times.

Didn't Work.

First Suburbanite—I hear that neighbor of yours adopted that hired girl of his so as to get her to stay with the family.

Second Suburbanite—Yes, and now his adopted daughter wants to stay in the parlor and play the piano all day and let her mother do the housework.

Anticipation.

"Doesn't it make you the least bit envious to see what elegant furniture Mrs. Evers is putting into her house next door?"

"Not a bit. My husband says it will be sold by the sheriff within six months—and I'll be there to buy it."—Chicago Tribune.

MEDICINAL
One Person
Tells Another
ABOUT KODOL DYSPEPSIA CURE.

That's Why Its Sale Is Increasing so Rapidly—So there must be something in Merit After All.

Fair minded people always admit it when they find an article of merit. If it has done them good they want to help others, too. Thousands bear witness to the wonderful curative qualities of Kodol Dyspepsia Cure. It is the only preparation which positively and completely digests any good food you may eat. No one disputes the fact that some other digestants partially accomplish this result. Pepsin, for instance, is found in the healthy stomach. When it is lacking, the patient takes pepsin and it helps him. But pepsin digests only albuminous foods, like meat and eggs. May be there's plenty of pepsin and a lack of the other digestants. Then it does no good. That's the trouble with the other preparations. They don't contain all the digestants. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure contains them all. It digests any good food you want. You don't have to diet. The feeling of fullness after eating is immediately relieved by Kodol Dyspepsia Cure.

"I used Kodol Dyspepsia Cure for dyspepsia and it completely cured me. I can highly recommend it." E. D. Williamson, Currogo, N. C.

"I had dyspepsia in its worst form and felt miserable most of the time until I used Kodol Dyspepsia Cure, which completely cured me." Mrs. W. W. Baylor, Hilliard, Pa.

THE NEW YORK TRIBUNE comes pretty near being an ideal newspaper. It is clean without being dull, enterprising without being sensational, and as fair and accurate as human foresight and care can make it.

THE TRIBUNE has positive convictions of its own on all the great questions of the day, but it is broad enough and liberal enough to give all reasonable opportunity to "hear the other side."

Every occurrence or development of sufficient importance to engage the attention of self-respecting, intelligent people is sure to find adequate treatment in THE TRIBUNE, by text or picture, or both.

What is true of THE TRIBUNE applies with force, though in modified form, to the other publications issued from THE TRIBUNE office.

THE TRIBUNE WEEKLY REVIEW, issued every Saturday, enables persons living in the small towns or villages to keep in touch with the best thought of the nation, just as well as those at the editorial center of view.
